

EDUCATION PROGRAM

Island Sexual Health is a non-profit health agency committed to promoting positive sexuality and healthy choices within Victoria. We take a preventative, professional, and comfortable approach to sexual health education and have a well-respected and popular education program in Victoria that educates 18,000+ participants/year.

The goal of the many different focuses of "Beyond the Talk" workshops is to provide participants (children, youth, parents, or professionals) with current and factual information to empower the development and practice of healthy sexuality and to prevent negative unintended pregnancies, exposure to sexually transmitted infections, and sexual exploitation.

Our workshops facilitated by a professional sexual health educator and are designed to be interactive, facilitated discussions with space for participants to ask questions. Workshops meet the updated BC curricular competencies. As a non-profit agency, ISHS asks for an honorarium of $40-80/wksp to offset the delivery cost. Additional custom workshops from pre-school-professional are available upon request.

To supplement our education program, we offer a youth based website beyondthetalk.ca and a confidential texting line 250-812-9374 where youth can text a sexual health question and receive an accurate answer privately.

Community Education Workshops ADOLESCENT and YOUTH FOCUS (grades 6 - 12)

The following is a general outline of workshops available, which are customized to the needs of each class/group.

Let's Talk: The P word and Healthy Relationships (Grades 6 and 7)

This workshop includes activities and discussion to review the physical, emotional and social changes of puberty (aka the p word). This workshop content can be adapted to include reproduction and pregnancy, relationships, and coping strategies.

Let's Talk: Sex Ed 101 (Grade 8+)

This workshop can be presented in an interactive Jeopardy-style game. A great way to introduce or review basic sexual health issues. Topics covered include pregnancy, birth control, STI's, relationships, safer sex and myths & facts.

Let's Talk: Birth Control Methods

This workshop includes discussion around types of intercourse, pregnancy and various contraceptive methods including: abstinence, hormonal (pills, ring, patch, injection) barrier (condoms, etc.), IUDs and emergency contraception including: how they work, effectiveness, the cost, how one can access them, pros and cons, myths, etc.

Let's Talk: Sexually Transmitted Infections (STIs) and Safer Sex

This workshop is presented in an interactive myth and fact format with seven of the more common STI's are discussed including: their transmission, treatment, consequences, and prevention. Discussion and Demonstration of safer sex methods concludes this workshop.

Let's Talk: Sexual FAQs & their As

This workshop explores the Top 20 questions youth have about sexuality and sexual health. Participants are given the opportunity to have their own questions answered anonymously to conclude this workshop.

Let's Talk: Sexual Decision Making and Relationships

This workshop explores the different decisions we are faced with regarding our sexuality and sexual health including discussion and activities around reasons people chose to be sexually active and reasons people chose to be abstinent (and what's the difference!) negotiating intimacy, consent, assessing risk behaviours, intoxication and sexual activity, influences of personal values, peers, partner, media, etc.

Let's Talk: Teen Pregnancy

This workshop utilizes the "Empathy Belly" is a garment worn by students to enable them to temporarily experience more than 20 of the physical symptoms and lifestyle changes of pregnancy. It is used to augment a discussion on teen pregnancy discussion about: signs and symptoms of pregnancy, decision making, pregnancy prevention, and resources.

Let's Talk: Sex Ed 2.0

This workshop is designed for older youth who have existing sexual health knowledge but would benefit from the most current info on topics such as STIs, birth control, safer sex methods, media messages, and more. Emphasis on participant directed discussion.

All workshops are designed to meet the educational needs and prescribed learning outcomes for individual classes/groups. If time permits, topics may be combined. Additional workshop focuses are available from pre-school–professional. Please note that due to the popularity of our programs, we usually book 6-12 weeks ahead in advance.
